Attacks by Party Renegade Making Votes in Iowa

Republicans Are Angered by Senator's Treachery

Antics Absorb Interest in Hawkeye State Fight

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING (EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

DES MOINES (Iowa) Oct. 14.—Returning to Iowa after an absence of two weeks, I find the attention of the populace diverted from the political performance in the main ring to the antics of the Senator, himself, the smooth-tongued Wildman Brookhart (yes, his name actually is Wildman, not William, strange as it may seem).

You are reminded of that tennis match at the time when the hand suddenly stops playing and you breathlessly view the death-defying leap from the dizzy heights of the tennis court.

"Ladies and gentlemen," you seem to hear Dante Pierce, the La Follette ringmaster, for Iowa, bemoan the death of his wife, "ladies and gentlemen, you are now to witness the marvelous, thrilling and unparalleled feat of Wildman, the wild-tempered, dancing artist, who while carrying water on both shoulders, will ride to victory with one foot on the G.O.P. and the other on the thin pants of the state. So Wildman proceeds to perform amid greatest excitement."

OUT FOR LA FOLLETTE

With the regular Republican nomination for Senator, he repudiates the hero of his ticket, demanding the nomination of Gen. Dawes from his candidacy and then denouncing President Coolidge as a weak, vacuous tool, and advocating for the election of La Follette, whom he lauds in every speech. It is no secret that he, himself, will vote for Bob La Follette and even will vote for Broder Chayey Bryan in the Senate, if the election should be thrown into Congress.

The performance is being cheered by the regular Follette supporters with much gnashing of teeth by the regular Republicans. The Republican State committee has voted to all hell from Brookhart's canvass and has declared him a party bolter who is not entitled to party support. His speaking tour is now being arranged by the La Follette campaign committee.

THROWS OFF MARK

The Republican leaders feel that Wildman and Dante played it pretty low down on the G.O.P.

PICK WOMAN FOR GOVERNOR

Wyoming Democrats Unanimously Nominate Widow to Run as Candidate to Succeed Her Husband

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE

CHEYENNE (Wyo.) Oct. 14.—A woman in widow's weeds to-day became the Democratic nominee for Governor of Wyoming. Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, widow of the late Gov. William Bradford Ross, was unanimously chosen as a candidate to succeed her husband in office.

The event recalled that a Territorial Assembly in 1869 granted Wyoming women equal suffrage and blazed the trail for national woman's suffrage that followed nearly half a century later.

Out of a field of five or six mentioned, Mrs. Ross was considered seriously on the floor of the convention.

DEMSEY WILL MEET PAOLINO

Basque Battler Gets Chance

Bout to be Held in August in French Ring

Bull Fighting Arena Picked
for Scene of Affair

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
PARIS, Oct. 14.—Jack

Dempsey has accepted a contract to fight the Franco-Spanish heavyweight, Paolino, Basque woodsman, at Bayonne, next August. The contract to stage the fight was signed yesterday, according to a statement by M. Boulant, proprietor of the Biarritz Casino, who is promoting the affair.

The conditions guarantee Dempsey a minimum of $100,000. If between now and next August Paolino is defeated by any other boxer, the fight is off.

French boxing fans do not appear to place much faith in the chances of Paolino, who, despite his tremendous strength, is hardly considered a dangerous opponent for the world's champion. He is more or less of a novice, and has not made a particularly brilliant showing against heavyweight boxers he has met in Europe—none of whom could stand up many rounds against Dempsey.

The fight will take place in the grand arena of Bayonne, where famous bull fights are staged annually. In order to assure financial success, M. Boulant intends to organize a great sports week, with automobile, racing, matches, basque polo, rugby football, favorite sports locally. The climax of the week will be the match between Dempsey and Paolino, who is idolized on both sides of the Pyrenees. The fight is sure to prove a big draw.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Jack Kearns declared today that the dispatch from Paris announcing that Jack Dempsey had accepted terms for a bout there next August was "news" to him. The champion's manager declared that Dempsey was not now considering a bout abroad, but he was in the middle of negotiations for a tilt-out in Paris, and that he was ignorant of the existence of a boxer named Paolino.

BERNIE CHANDLER IS HURT IN SCRIMMAGE

Bernie Chandler, demon right guard on the Occidental, was hit in the eye and sprained his right side last night, and probably will not be able to play against Santa Clara, according to advice from Eddie Rock, coach. During a scrum, Rock, who is drilling the men on straight football and will use little else against the Bronchos from the north, North, was struck in the eye by a ball and Nichols went to the aid of his friend, who was still on the ground. Chandler was formerly fullback at Glendale and though he weighed less than 160 pounds, he was considered one of the lightest individuals in a very belligerent game.

LABARBA BEATS GRANDETTA

Amateur Flyweight Champion of the World Scores Victory Over Portland Sheik at Vernon

OXY GRIDS WORKING AT TOP SPEED

Coach Nichols Drives Team Hard in Preparation for Santa Clara Game

BY BRAVEN DYER

Fidel La Barba, amateur flyweight champion of the world, made his four-round debut before 9000 fans at Vernon last night and to say that the ex-L.A.A.C. boxer made a hit is putting it very mildly. George Blake's nifty little fighter was pitted against Frankie Grandetta, the Portland sheik, and Fidel all but knocked his rival's head off in their engagement. On Fidel's desperation drive, he took a long cut on his right eye, but he was able to continue his fight.

La Barba went in with instructions to wait Grandetta out during the first round, mainly to get his bearings and find out what the big-time racket might be like. As a result there was little action in the first session. Fidel landed three solid lefts and brought over one hard right, but was unable to keep his time away from Fidel.

FIGHT BEGAN

In the second the fight began. Using his left hook, which carries an awful lot of steam behind it, Fidel made to bore away at his rival's middle section and as a result the round was half over. Grandetta was all but out. He went through the ropes twice and showed little inclination to get back in. On the second occasion the referee, Harry Lee, sent Harry Lee got only as far as the ropes before Fidel was back on the job. Grandetta bled profusely from the nose and were no questions as to the decision.

It was the worst beating Fidel ever received in public.

Ruby Lavine trinned Babe Harris in a bout that had the gallery boys boozing and clapping almost continually. Harris stuck to Lavine with all the tenacity of a real estate salesman when once lined up with a prospective customer. He clinched from the first bell to the last and the fight, therefore, wasn't so good.

Sailor Joyce, after being down for the count of nine and again for a two-toll in the same session, came back and won all the points.

Joe Kelly stopped George Drew in the fourth route in the first round. Drew hurt Kelly with mid-section punches, but when Joe found the range it was all over. Kelly socked his rival on the chin with a bunch of hard punches and Drew didn't even get through the ropes. Referee Harry Lee wisely stopped the fight.

MIDGETS IN GRID CLASH

Lincoln and Jefferson Lightweight Elevens Hook Up on RailSplitters Field Today

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE

The City League officially opens this afternoon when the Lincoln and Jefferson lightweights clash on the RailSplitters gridiron in a game that will eliminate one from its aspirations.

Coach Lynn Livernash of Lincoln, Franklin, and midgets will be the likely leaders, as they are all too green. However, the RailSplitters mentor predicts that when his charges get a few more starts under their belts they will be tough to beat.

Over at Jefferson Jim Purcell, former U.S.C. guard, is turning out his first eleven. Purcell says his Democrats have not shown much of an offense to date, but have made it tough for the other teams to score. So, today's affair should be fairly evenly matched.

Following is the probable line-up of the two men: Jefferson—Burdick, Parish or Sheehan, ends: Boszian, Mellon or Tambarski, Paolino and Beretta, guards: Evans, fullback, and Dore, Gregory or Cook, halfbacks.

Lincoln—Fitzgerald and Cox, ends: Clausman and Quast, guards: McGillard and Ramos, guards: Swain, center; Capt. Roselli, quarter; Marshall, full and Kondo and Clark, half-backs.

BIG SEND-OFF FOR ATHLETES

Several Thousand Fans Bid Gridders Adieu

Coach Henderson and Others Make Speeches

To Reach Oregon Metropolis in Time for Workout

Cheered on by several thousand wildly enthusiastic students, thirty-four Trojan athletes and half a dozen coaches left Los Angeles last night bound for Portland, Or., where on Saturday the U.S.C. eleven is to take on the Oregon Aggies. The demonstration at the Southern Pacific station last night was one of the greatest ever staged by Trojan supporters, the fans cheering themselves blue in the face in their frantic efforts to give the gridironers a send-off worthy of what every U.S.C. follower hopes for the coming year.

They had a lot of fun when the whole assemblage stormed through the station and out onto the tracks. The students crowded around the observation car and waited for a speech from some one. Fay Thomas, the big tackle, was spotted, and although many male voices and not a few female ones appealed to him orationally, "Scow" remained obstinate and refused to offer anything along the desired line.

Fay Lewis and Eddie Hawkins had a view, and with a few choice words informed the crowd that he and his men "would fight like hell and hope to bring home a victory." Lee, the All-American, was loud in his praises of the send-off, and in his speech said that he knew every man would play all out for his gridiron.

They nearly raised the roof on Monday night no panther that ever crossed the threshold could either stop or break the spirit of the attack. When Mondi refused to give up, a good portion of the audience urged him to make a speech, and he did, and when he was through, the crowd cheered him on.

The Trojans will arrive in Portland tomorrow night. They will probably go through a short work-out at Oakland or San Francisco before Friday morning. Practice will be held on the famous, or infamous, depending upon your affiliations, sand-dune Portland field.

Two solid gold Olympiad medals, won at the Olympic Games this summer are among tokens of victory displayed by the Helen Mills, the national titleholder in tennis in the California students' tennis store.

CONFERENCE STANDINGS

GAMES SATURDAY

Pomona and the local University of California eleven swing into action Saturday in the opening Southern California Conference games of the 1924 season. The Sagehens entertained For Stanton's Caltech athletes, while the Grizzlies clash with the Quakers. Public interest centers around the former clash, not only because the battle will be the closest of the two but also on account of the desire to find out just how the Sagehens are to rate in the conference this fall.

Eugene Nixon, Pomona mentor, faces no easy task in Saturday's game. He will be forced to start a line-up that will not include either the injured Borey Bell, halfback, or Bell, who was hurt in the Trojan clash; while Merritt received two cracked ribs in the California engagement. He will not be able to play until the Whittier game.

PLAYERS QUARTER

Champ Clark, whose playing against California won him the plaudits of Bay City sports authorities, will probably be available for the Sagehens. He has played two seasons under Nixon already, knows the Sagehen mentor's line

BOBBY JONES IS HELD ALL EVEN

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE) ATLANTA (Ga.) Oct. 14. Cyril J. H. Tolley, French open champion and former British amateur champion, paired with Perry Adair, twice southern champion, finished all square in an exhibition golf match here today against "Bobby" Jones, amateur champion of the United States, and former open champion, and "Chick" Ridley, Georgia State champion. The match went eighteen holes over the difficult East Lake course, the proceeds being devoted to charity.

of attack and is the logical man for the battle with Merritt out of it. This will probably result in either Brick Smith or Gervin Neher getting a crack at one of the two players. Both have had more experience, but Smith hits hard and is not easy to hurt. George Stone will sit in at the other half, with Ed McCullum at full.

Caltech showed plenty of strength against Whittier and, according to a report, were unfortunate in losing the game. It is possible that Jack Baker, the tough and willing halfback, who looks like one of the few players in the field, will not be able to start against the Sagehens. His knee, injured in the U.S.C. game, was twisted again yesterday. He will be replaced by Johnson, with Alderman, Stanton and Foster in the other berths.

Last year the Engineers won a 13-4 victory. Some such score ought to result Saturday, with very little indication as to which team will have the larger end of the count.

NO TROUBLE

Whittier should have little trouble with the Grizzlies, even though the Poets' showing against Caltech was more than encouraging. The Grizzlies have the lightest line in the conference and their defeat at the hands of La Verne about a week ago was a surprise.

Denny's punting featured the Caltech game, and the Engineers should get into a tough hole his kicking will undoubtedly pull them out. Whittier won last year's contest.

City League football teams clash in the first round of play tomorrow and Friday. There's a chill in the air and a smoky pall that hangs over the city isn't a forest fire, nor is it the easterners call "Influence." It's the smoke of clearing away from the hills where the easterners are making their tracks through final debris of the great fire for the first act in the drama — "Gridiron.

In the days remaining before the official opening, local teams are putting the finishing touches on their machines before the season begins. This is the time to win fame and fortune and Jefferson, at the Coliseum, and Franklin, at High and Franklin, and Poly, at Poly. Titular Games
be Played Here

Charles L. Lockard, president of the Seattle club, has sent the following wire to Harry A. Williams, president of the Coast League, who has taken up the matter of grounds with President J. H. Patrick and President Edward R. Mair of the Los Angeles and Vernon clubs:

"Seattle is very lucky enough to win pennant would be possible to play St. Paul series here? Would suggest you see Patric and Mair about it. St. Paul series could be played on Los Angeles ground. We would be glad to compete with them."

In case of tie in the Coast League, President Williams will order a play-off of three games. This would put the winner on edge for St. Paul.

Epindar May Get Crack at
Sarazen AgainBy A. F. NIGHTINGALE
NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The Maryland Jockey Club is attempting to arrange a fourth international special race at Laurel on November 1, in which Epindar, Sarazen, Wise Counsellor and Mad Play would meet. Pierre Wertheimer, owner of Epindar, said today the purse and distance have not been decided upon, and the attitude of the owners of the other horses was not known. Mr. Wertheimer, who said, however, that he would enter Epindar in the race if it were run.

Epindar will sail for France Saturday, and will probably be accompanied by Everett Haynes, American jockey, who has had the mounts on the French in all of his important races. Haynes and other Wertheimer horses on European tracks and Epindar will have another jockey up in the international race if it is run. Mr. Wertheimer said.

Epindar, who has not run for four years, has the only interference mark. Sarazen and Mad Play did some fine work, and others, like the un-mentioned, have been here Saturday.

The new members of the un-mentioned, have been here Saturday.

ZR-3 IS OVER CONTINENT

Midnight Message Sent Over American Territory

Locating of Giant Airship is Relief to Navy

Zeppelin Builders Coming to United States to Work

Robert Dollar at 9:20. She hoisted colors and number. Steamer Harding radioed last night telling airship's position. The Shenandoah does not need help yet. We have fuel left for fifty-six hours, half of original supply. Hours, 10,000 feet at 9:30 and below safety valve until 1:30. Miles contained about 90 per cent full of hydrogen. This took us above the low clouds. Glad to go up when it's cooler. We have had night hardly slept. Temperature 72 outside, 75 in cabin. Back to 1000 altitude at 10:30. This airship steadily ever been in."

WILL MEET FOG

That the airship would run into serious fog conditions was predicted by naval observers here as soon as her drift northward was indicated. The ship's line she was followed from Pauillac, France. Azores would have carried her under normal conditions within one hundred miles of the area marked in red on the map as "area of fog" by fog 20 to 35 per cent of each year.

It was regarded as probable that the commander of the ZR-3 would elect to drive the ship to lower levels in an effort to escape these fog and perhaps continue at a reduced speed until good weather was encountered.

The Navy Department tonight ordered three ships which had been stationed in the Atlantic to be moved to the ZR-3 to protect it. The Hampshire, Boston, Va., are the Detritus and Alvarez, stationed between the Azores and Brazil. The Alvarez and observation ship Patoka, stationed at latitude 55° north, longitude 45° west, northeast of New Foundland.

SHIP IS STRIPPED OF TONS OF EQUIPMENT

(By A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
LAKEHURST, N. J., Oct. 14.—How the Shenandoah has been stripped of all dispensable equipment to increase her fuel capacity for the transoceanic pilgrimage was disclosed yesterday. The ship today when they began unpacking and laying out the contents of huge packing cases received from France.

There were tons and tons of the equipment. Lieutenant Edmund T. Stew, supply officer of the field, said it will be put aside for reutilization for installation and inspection before the dirigible was turned over formally to this government as a commercial passenger ship, with accommodations for sixty to eighty persons.

During the 4200-mile hop, which is nearing an end, the ZR-3 has been flying more or less as the four American officers listed as "passengers." Instead of living in crew quarters, as was the custom of the dirigible, the crew and passenger and freight transit, they are understood to be occupying the passenger quarters.

Acting Commander Maurice R. Pierce said today there would be no test or trial flights of the ZR-3 after her arrival here and before her departure from the German government.

The test flights were flown from Friedrichshafen, he said. "The flight across the Atlantic will constitute the successfully completed, the supreme test."

"When she arrives here and is safely stowed in her berthing at the Goodyear Zeppelin hangar, we will turn her over to Dr. Hugo Eckener, president of the Zeppelin Company and commander of the ship," he said.

ZEPPELIN BUILDERS
COMING TO UNITED STATES

FOR CABLE AND ASSOCIATED FARMER

BERLIN, Oct. 14.—An agreement has been concluded, it is said here, between the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company and Karl Arnstein, managing director of the Zeppelin works at Friederichshafen, and one of the builders of the giant dirigible ZR-3, whereby an engineering corps, headed by Herr Arnstein, will come to the United States, the party leaving November 1 for Akron, O.

AIR LEADERSHIP IS OPEN TO AMERICA

(By A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

AKRON (Ore.), Oct. 14.—With the acceptance by this country of the German-constructed ZR-3, the largest all-rigid airship ever built, and the public's pride in the German Zeppelin works by the Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation of Akron, the door has been opened to America to lead the world in making lighter-than-air aircraft for peace-time purposes.

Although the ZR-3 is known as a "reparation ship," it is not a war vessel but has been built under the direction of American aeronautical experts, who are officials of the recently organized Goodyear-Zeppelin organization for peace-time purposes. It was explained here today.

DEFENSE IS OPENED IN LAND FRAUD CASE

(By A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

MEDFORD (Ore.), Oct. 14.—The government today late rested its case against George W. Laidley of Medford, and S. G. Ehl of San Diego, charged with using the mail in fraud in connection with the sale of homestead claims. The defense put on as its first witness Eugene Smith of Grant's Pass, Oregon. Smith is a 100-ton limber cruiser for Michigan and Pacific Coast concerns, and now operates a sawmill fourteen miles from Grant's Pass. Smith gave testimony relative to a cruiser he had made of timber on claims located by Castleton B. Hurl of Malone, and C. H. Huntington of the United States Land Office at Roseburg was asked to state if he had any knowledge of lands designated as agricultural, but had classified as mineral and timber lands. He testified that he had no recollection of only two or three quarter-sections being withdrawn.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

HARTFORD (Conn.), Oct. 14.—Frank B. Brandege's successor from Connecticut to the United States Senate will not be appointed by Gov. Templeton, nor will the new Senator be elected at the Presidential election, November 4.

The Connecticut law of 1913, passed soon after the adoption of the Seventeenth Amendment concerning the popular election of United States Senators, provides that a special election must be held in the event of a vacancy.

Another statutory provision made to give the State secretary's office sufficient time to make the necessary nominations to be filed at least fifteen days before an election.

Connecticut is the only state in the union in which the convention of the nominating delegates is held in the fall.

Politicians, both Republicans and Democrats, are now shoring up their organizations to formulate lists after Senator Brandege's funeral.

Both Republicans and the Democrats are agreed that the election will be held November 4, and that a special election with its necessary expense and labor incident to caucuses, conventions and election is imperative.

The present candidate for Governor, Professor Hurian Bingham of Yale, was being groomed by state Republicans to take Brandege's place on the State ticket in 1928.

J. Henry Roraback, national committee chairman of the Republican State Committee, looks tonight as a contender for Brandege's place.

The present candidate for Governor, Professor Hurian Bingham of Yale, was being groomed by state Republicans to take Brandege's place on the State ticket in 1928.

John S. Muller of Stamford, who ran for re-election in the Fourth District, was nominated for George P. McLean's seat in 1924.

Small possibilities for the vacant Senate seat and another is Senator Hugh M. Alcorn of Suffield.

San Francisco reports a pickup in the demand for female factory and office workers, while, industry is still spotty. Los Angeles is enjoying somewhat of a boom. There is much construction work of a public and private nature in the big southern city, but iron and lumber are slack and show no promise.

When morning came it was discovered that the big gun fire was produced by the Chinese, who had been using kerosene cans, while the rifle fire was the crackling of strings of small crackers, lighted by a few matches.

By this time the Mukden forces had exhausted their ammunition and returned in numbers, driving their foes before them.

GERMAN LOAN FAR OVER TOP

The German loan, a banking syndicate announced that an acceptance credit of $2,500,000 had been given to the German government to finance the exportation of coal.

Properties of large German industrialists, such as the Krupp and Stinnes interests, are included in the financing.

SEASIDE SCROPE ON FEET

The success of the German loan will bring several large industrial bond issues from that country to the American market.

After a few weeks, according to international bankers, the American and continental corporations to make capital available for the German loan.

Small industrial concerns will be financed through the corporation which has an authorized capital of $25,000,000.

Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City Bank, who participated in the preliminary negotiations for the German loan, returned from Europe today.

He said that the success of the undertaking would contribute greatly to the financial rehabilitation of Europe.

"America in absorbing her share of the loan," he said, "joins her with allies in an unified attempt to help Germany better its working machinery of Europe and of the world."

The Elks Magazine is paid for and received by 850,000 men, members of the B. P. O. Elks. It is a good magazine for anybody to read; and most of them do read it. EXPORTS SHOW UPWARD SPURT

Month's Total is Highest Since Early 1921

Gradual Increase Despite Lofty Price Level

Hoover Discusses Foreign Trade Growth

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Exports took a sudden spurt upward in September, according to monthly figures made public today by the Department of Commerce. The exports for the month soared to a total value of $427,000,000, which is the highest mark reached since early in 1921. A total almost as great was reached in December, 1923, but the September, 1924, figures are nearly $100,000,000 in excess of those of August.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover in commenting on the unusual total said that the September exports probably were abnormal and that the totals might not remain at that level. However, he said that it was significant that there was a general tendency toward increased exports. Secretary Hoover said that not only had there been a gradual upward movement in American foreign trade, including both exports and imports, but it is significant that when allowance is made for the higher level of prices, exports, more than before the war there still is evident a marked increase over previous foreign trade.

INCREASE OVER 1913

Mr. Hoover said that the exports and imports total in the United States combined, show an increase of about 30 per cent in quantity over the 1913 level. The increase in quantity on the basis of nine months' figure is about 40 per cent in exports and 20 per cent in imports.

"I believe that we are in quantitative increase in foreign trade, the largest increase in the last 10 years," said Mr. Hoover. "It means that we are taking a larger and larger position in the world's foreign trade. Our trade has been growing steadily month by month for the last three years. There has been a tendency for world trade to expand with the gradual recovery from war conditions, and we are getting a larger portion of this expansion than any other nation."

OTHER TOTALS

The August exports amounted to $330,672,764. The July total, which was the lowest of any month since February, 1922, was only $276,649,054. The August total for 1924 was in January, when exports amounted to $395,271,187. Exports in September, 1923, amounted to $325,570, while in September, 1913, the corresponding year, the total was $218,240,001.

In the nine months ended in September, exports totaled $2,124,146,141, and compared with $2,040,144,675, in the corresponding period of 1923.

FALL KILLS BEAUTIFUL AUTHORESS

Mrs. Woodruff, Wife of Lawyer and Scientist, Meets Tragic End

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—A leap or fall from a second-story window of a hotel today took the life of Mrs. Helen Smith Woodruff, authoress and playwright declared by Penrhyn Stanlaws, the artist, to have been one of the most beautiful women in the world. Mrs. Woodruff, her husband is a lawyer and scientist.

Mrs. Woodruff, who was born at Selma, Ala., thirty-six years ago, was blind and had nervous disorders and for two years of the time was totally blind.

It was blind that she wrote the best-seller of 1913 and gave the royalties to the New York Association for the Blind. Later her husband, Dr. John W. Davis, and the proceeds went to the City of Birmingham, Ala., for the building of a children's hospital.

"Highway for the Girls," was produced in New York and the returns went to the Committee for Devastated France. "Kit-Kit, Kitty" was produced in 1919 and she collaborated in the libretto "Cushes Because" and produced "Cushes and Kisses."

SAYS DAVIDS RECONCILED TO TAIL-END

Ex-Congressman Mondell Opens Campaign of G.O.P. in Marion County, Ohio

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

MARION (O.) Oct. 14.—Former Congressman Frank Mondell of the Marion County Republican delegation here, declared that "John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for President, has apparently become reconciled to his position as tail-end in the Presidential campaign race."

The Democratic nominee started out representing himself as a campaign progressive, but has, as the campaign progressed, become as reckless and illogical in his statements and attitudes as his wife, who, it is said, has been a tendency for world trade to expand with the gradual recovery from war conditions, and we are getting a larger portion of this expansion than any other nation."

"Not only will the voters elect Coolidge, but he will have the support of a large number of Congressmen," he said.

"It is either Coolidge or the election of the people of 'Brother Charley Bryan' in an election in the House of Representatives," Mr. Mondell continued.

"One thing the country is unanimous in is that we don't want Bryan for President."

FISH BILL FOES' STORY REFUTED

Propaganda Against Klamath Measure Condemned

State Game Head Says Low Dam Pictures Used

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 14.—The California Fish and Game Commission, today issued a statement which declared that opponents of the proposed Klamath River Dam, which will appear on the November ballot, were resorting to misrepresentation of the facts. The statement said:

"In an effort to convince the people of California that fish can not be caught in the Klamath River, the electro-metals company is using under the caption 'A fish ladder in Oregon showing how fish get over high dams' a photograph of a dam in Oregon showing a fishway supposed to take fish over a high dam. With reference to this photograph, A. J. Burroughs, State Game Warden of Oregon, says: 'This photograph does not give a correct perspective of the fish ladder, as the dam is 250 feet high, while the fishway is only 11 feet high. The dam is 11 feet high and is situated in the Willamette River a short distance above the head of tidewater.'

"The electro-metals company is practicing on the people of California. One of their proposed dams is 250 feet high; the dam shown in the photograph is only 11 feet high. The dam is 250 feet high, as is the dam in Oregon. The dam in Oregon is 11 feet high and is situated in the Willamette River a short distance above the head of tidewater.'

"The electro-metals company also is saying that 'the United States government guarantees the safety of the fish life in the Klamath River.' The United States Commissioner of Fisheries and Mr. Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, in a letter to Mr. G. Bassett Stump, Secretary of the Oregon State Game Commission, and all other Western States, passed a resolution condemning high dams in the Klamath River.

The Wrath to Come

By E. Phillips Oppenheim

Susan rose to her feet and conveyed his wife's message to the Prince. Then, for a moment, she hesitated. Two or three young men moved towards her, but she waved them away.

"A minute," she called out.

"I am coming back."

She walked out to the open part of the deck, a few yards away. Grant was still seated, gazing gloomily across the sea. She drew nearer and nearer to his chair. He heard the sound of her hastening footsteps and turned around. Susan was in spite of his feet. He could scarcely believe his eyes. She was smiling at him, a little plaintively, with just a touch of appeal about her mouth.

"I was stupid, Grant," she whispered. "Would you care to dance this?"

"Susan!" he exclaimed. "You're stupid, indeed," she went on. "Let's have a good long dance like we used to and then do something terribly obvious—go and look at the bows or something."

He was about to say no, when no questions, to accept what came to him. Gertrude watched them for a moment as she pased along, leaning on her husband's arm.

"You're right," she agreed. "The papers are right when they call that young woman beautiful. I used to think she lacked expression."

The Prince looked at the young couple through his horn-rimmed eye-glasses.

"She does very well," he agreed.

"They have the looks, these young Englishwomen, and the figure—sometimes the wit. They move all the time, though, in a very nervous way. How has its compensations," she sighed.

CHAPTER XXI.

The Selenia was due in New York on Wednesday morning, and, on Tuesday night Grant and Susan sat out on deck together until almost 11 o'clock. Susan glanced at her watch reluctantly.

"If this voyage were going on longer, Grant," she said, "I should have to tell people that we were engaged in self-defense. We really do such outrageous things."

"I know I am getting very unpopular," Grant observed, smiling, "and, curiously enough, I don't care bit."

"The one thing I am glad about," he went on, "is that we are approaching a country which has most civilized ideas as regards matrimony. I am, for instance, putting banns up and waiting three weeks and that sort of thing."

"You don't suppose I'm going to be married over here, do you?"

The Prince looked at the young couple through his horn-rimmed eye-glasses.

"She does very well," he agreed.

round off proceedings there—if we are any of us left alive."

"You've some very serious work to do first, Grant," she reminded him.

"Very," he assented. "He has your father. Mine may lead me into more trouble, perhaps, but your father's is the greater responsibility. I don't think there is another man in the world who would be able to handle the situation he will have to handle in a few days. There is a terrible crisis closing upon us, Susan."

"I think that, in our little affairs seem almost unimportant, doesn't it?" she sighed.

He leaned over and kissed her daringly.

"Just for luck," he murmured.

On his way to his stateroom Grant passed the entrance to Cornelius Blunn's suite. He raised the curtain. The steward was seated outside the closed door.

"How's Mr. Blunn tonight?" he inquired.

"He's been a little easier, I think. He's locked the door and he seems quite quiet now."

"Are you going to sit there all night?"

"Mr. Blunn's giving me $10 a night not to move, in case he wants me. The chief steward's putting one man on to look after me all night. Lucky I'm used to sleeping in a chair."

"Goodnight," Grant wished him.

"Goodnight," sir."

Grant made his way to his own stateroom, exchanged his patient shoes for some dark-colored ones with rubber soles, his dinner jacket for a blue serge coat which buttoned up to the neck, slipped into the latest thing in automatics, into his pocket, and went up on deck again by a roundabout way. It was nearly midnight now, and only a few people were still in evidence.

He drew up a chair and sitting up against the glass-inlosed space in front of Blunn's suite and waited until one by one they dispersed and he was entirely alone. Then he rose to his feet, opened the sliding door to which he had the key, and found himself in the dark, silent portion of the ship allotted to the suite. The door opening into the outer room was left upon a hook. There was no sound to be heard inside, although a slight murmur of voices could be heard from the sitting room. He stepped inside and listened. Opposite him was another door, also on the hook, leading to the sleeping room, from which a thin gleam of light shone.

He approached it noiselessly. "I wonder whether he'd like to see me?"

"I don't think I'd disturb him. Are you going to sit there all night?"

"Mr. Blunn's giving me $10 a night not to move, in case he wants me. The chief steward's putting one man on to look after me all night. Lucky I'm used to sleeping in a chair."

"Goodnight," Grant wished him.

DANGER LOSES WHITNEY SUIT

Court Finds Capitalist Was Conspiracy Victim

Mrs. Fontaine Lived With Husband, Witness Says

Charge of Annulment Fraud Is Substantiated

BY A. P. MAYER WIRE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—An

attorney brought by Miss Evans Bur-

tiss, New York professional boxer, to obtain $1,000

from the Court of Appeal, which had been made to show

it is for himself.

It was not only held that

it had been made the

charge of conspiracy on the part of

the plaintiff, but the

defendant, who had

been indicted by the jury, was held to be

the conspiracy finding.

MRS. MUN'S FATHER

Witness, testifying in his own

interest, said that he never proposed marriage to the plaintiff,

but to his father, the late Mr. Whitney, as the latter intended to marry the plaintiff.

The witness was Mrs. Mollie

Adair, husband of Miss

Adair, who contravened the defendant's claim that she did not live with Adair after their marriage. Mrs. Fontaine testified that

Adair and Miss Fontaine lived together in the same apartment in which Mrs. Fontaine, the mother and the elder Mrs. Adair lived.

In substantiation of the defense

she said that Mrs. Fontaine obtained

by fraud an annulment of her marriage to Adair in the Supreme Court of Rockland County, New York. Sheriff Merritt Dixon, and his assistant, in the vicinity of Vannav, Ga., testified that they received a supposed true copy of the

annulment summons to serve on

Adair, but failed to receive any

copy of the complaint as provided for by law.

LETTERS ARE READ

The defense charged that the

summons was fraudulent, and that the annulment, which was finally

granted in the Rockland County

Court, was obtained by a

plot, the plan being to show

it is for himself.

It was necessary for Miss Fontaine

to retain the annulment before she could marry again.

Miss Natalie Couch, stenographer

for the Rockland County Court

read notes from the testimony

of the plaintiff, which had the effect that Miss Fontaine had left

Adair on the day of her marriage

to him.

Letters purporting to have been written by the dancer to her husband, and indicating that they lived together for a much longer

period than a single day, were also filed with the court. The letters, according to the defense, covered more than a year's time.

The Dear

He (on honeymoon): Your grandmother, I understand, made

a very charming reference at the wedding.

His Bride: Yes, didn't you get

it? She was quite sweet and said

she hoped we would be spared

many years together.—[Judge.

The Business Background of an old Scotch Bank

THE British Linen Company, founded in 1746, was converted into a bank seventeen years later when the Directors found "that it would be of more utility and better to promote the object of their institution by enlarging the issue of their own notes to traders and manufacturers rather than by being traders and manufacturers themselves."

Built on lines dictated by business experience, the British Linen Bank supplies practical services through 179 branches in Scotland. A unit of Barclays Bank Limited, which commands more than two billion dollars of resources, this bank is equipped to cooperate with American importers of Scotch goods through their own home banks.

TRAFFIC POLICE CHIEF FOR BAN

Tells Council Modification is Backward Step

Says Holiday No-Parking Rule Was Great Blessing

Action Deferred on Safety Committees Reports

Traffic Inspector Cleveland Heath of the police department yesterday told the City Council that any reduction in the downtown no-parking hours would be a step backward in the matter of relieving traffic congestion. He said that the morning no-parking hours which were in force during the holiday shopping season last year were the "salvation" of the business district, and he said that similar emergency legislation should be adopted for handling the traffic during the coming Christmas shopping season.

He said that he personally approved of morning no-parking hours to be established from 8 a.m. until 9:30 a.m. so as to enable traffic to enter the commercial district and to make it possible for downtown merchants to receive deliveries of merchandise.

SECOND LINE PARKING

"The second line parking," said Inspector Heath, "is the one great factor to make traffic congestion. If there were no parking allowed during the morning hours, the traffic would be held up at the curb and places at the curbs to unload their merchandise and then proceed on their way. A downtown merchant told me that the whole time he was returning to the downtown to make the delivery of his merchandise to him as the delivery cars could find no places to park."

The City Council had before it two bills concerning no-parking, one from Councilmen Musset and Baker recommending that the afternoon no-parking hour be set at 4:30 p.m. instead of 4 p.m., and a second report from Chairman Sunborn recommending that no-parking be established from 3 a.m. until 9:30 a.m. and that the afternoon no-parking hour be set at 4:30 p.m.

BUTLER OPPOSES BAN

Former Police Chief Butler, now traffic expert for the downtown Association, presented the tabulated results of his investigation to show that there were sufficient vacant parking spaces at the curb during the morning hours to make it unnecessary to enact legislation prohibiting no-parking.

The Council postponed action until Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

ILLEGAL AUCTION CHARGED

As part of the campaign against illegal operation of auction sales, the City Prosecutor's office yesterday charged that Harry Gould, a resident of 587 South Main street, and Sidney Seeman, attorney for the City, and Oren Baker, who signed the complaint, Gould and Seeman were conducting an auction sale at 9:30 p.m. in violation of the law which prohibits such activities between 8 p.m. and 8 a.m.

TACK LEADS TO DIVORCE COURT

Wife Finds It in Widow's Car; Hobby's Suit is Torn

"When I got out of the widow's car my skirt snagged on a tack in the upholstery. It brought a picture back to my mind," related Mrs. Gladys Dixon.

Mrs. Dixon was in Judge Hollister's court in a suit for divorce from Wilmer Dixon. "I remembered a night he had come home with a tear in his clothing," she continued. "Wilmer explained it as a casual accident. But I got to thinking."

"Then I started investigating."

"Sure enough, I found out he had been going around with the widow and that he had torn his trousers on that very tack."

Judge Hollister gave her a decree.

Farm machinery, featuring trucks, tractors, pumps and the latest in farm equipment, will occupy a separate tent and afford a well patronized school of instruction for those interested in agricultural pursuits.

Then there is the big education tent and the poultry display with entries from nearly every county in the Union.

Horse barns are filled with fine horses, drivers and driving horses. Rabbit fanciers have brought thousands of specimens to compete for handsome prizes.

Los Angeles county, which did not enter the county class competition, was given a special award.

Winners of the county awards were Chino, Escondido, La Verne, Antelope Valley, Walnut, Spade, and Palmdale. In the order of merit, the home county of Moreno took first in the corpora-

RIGHTS OF AUTOIST UPHELD

Dr. McClintock Tells Advertising Men Jay-Walking Should be Punishable by Fine

Automobile drivers have, or should have, certain rights which pedestrians should be bound to respect, according to Dr. Miller McClintock, who, in an address before the Advertising Club at the Biltmore yesterday, explained various provisions of his proposed traffic ordinance which is now in the hands of the City Council.

Calling attention to the old, Luther K. Bell, traffic manager of the United States Air Mail Service, spoke briefly of Los Angeles' air mail line, in which he proposed that the transcontinental line at Salt Lake City and which the Chamber of Commerce expects to be established by December 1.

AIR MAIL UP TO CITY "No city can obtain or retain the air mail service unless it is able and willing to patronize the service," said Mr. Bell. "The issue is in the hands of the 1,200,000 residents of Los Angeles—who would seem unable to be able to put a 50-cent sack of mail on the air every day."

Dr. Edgar F. Magrin, rabbi of Temple Emanu-El, spoke in behalf of the Community Chest and said that every member and sympathizer of the various societies of religion in Los Angeles "should support the proposition."

The musical entertainment was furnished by Louis Loew, violin virtuoso and director of Loew's State Music Masters, with Ernesti as accompanist.

The younger visitors, it's a real honest-to-goodness country fair with not an item missing.

Afternoons are devoted to events on the race track, where programs of harness and thoroughbred racing will be offered every day.

The ladies of the delegates today will be guests at a luncheon at the Upfitters, after which they will go on a drive through the beach cities.

Tomorrow they will accompany the delegates on a tour of Hollywood, Forest and surrounding Southern points.

The show will continue to and including Saturday with each day including a program of various communities and organizations. Wednesday will be Long Beach Day and the date of the coronation of New Zealand's first Queen, Thursday is Pomona and San Gabriel Valley Day, Friday is Alameda County Day, Saturday is Los Angeles City and County Day, at which time the show is dedicated to the San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties.

Pomona's show of 1924 established a new record and places the standard which will call for the best the community can give in the future to maintain the excellence of the present.

was of the opinion that Rosie ought to go back to the husband at Whittier. So strong was this sentiment at the local camp that the Mitchell family moved its tent two rods away from the main camp and maintained a sulken aloofness while the negotiations were under way.

Just after sundown last night Mitchell and the other men returned from Whittier, driving a big tonneau with four wheels. There was excited jabbering around the fire in front of the Mitchell tent. The women in the camp were sawing and jabbering of a score of men and tried to catch the import of the talk at the Mitchell tent.

The men who intruded in to the Mitchell family camp, Papa Mitchell said the trouble was not settled yet. Mebby we see tomorrow, mebby next Saturday.

"No city can obtain or retain the air mail service unless it is able and willing to patronize the service," said Mr. Bell. "The issue is in the hands of the 1,200,000 residents of Los Angeles—who would seem unable to be able to put a 50-cent sack of mail on the air every day."

MRS. LEX'S ATTORNEY IN DENIAL

But Courthouse Rumors of Settlement in Balm Suit Against Vollmer Persist

Warren L. Williams, attorney for Mrs. Charlotte M. Lex, denied yesterday that negotiations were about for a settlement out of court of Mrs. Lex's $50,000 breach of promise suit against August Vollmer, former Chief of Police here. Despite this denial reports that the two sides were in settlement out of court were current in Judge Valentine's department of the Superior Court, where Vollmer's demurrer to Mrs. Lex's suit and his motion for a change of venue were to be heard yesterday.

The hearing, however, was continued to the 21st inst. with the consent of attorneys representing both parties. Yesterday's continuance was the third granted since Vollmer filed his demurrer and motion for a change of venue.

Though Vollmer has made no formal answer to the suit pending action on his demurrer and motion for a change of venue was announced by another.

"You please go away—i got a headache," said another plaintiff.

"And you get out," said a couple of the men turned their backs and walked away, leaving an old woman smoking a cigarette.

Over at the main camp a few minutes later, a swarthy woman scraped together some wood poles and set a gridiron over the fire, preparing to cook a meal over the campfire.

Catching up a wailing child she set it to sucking while she poured a half can of ground coffee into the frying pan.

"Whoa, whoa, whoa," she said, "I got a headache."

"Rosie, get out," said a man.

Over at the Mitchell camp again,

the trouble all settle pretty

quick and we all go to work," was announced by another.

"Rosie, get out," said another.

BIG PRODUCTION
There's a surplus of sweetness in the country, but the home doesn't always show it.

FILL UP YOUR GLASSES
Here is a new toast enunciated in the Nation's Business. It is worth memorizing.
"Here's to business, big and small, the hope of every American youth who is willing to study, to live, and endeavor to attain something better than the common lot."

PREDATORY ANIMALS
If the squirrels in Echo Park are going to attack and rend the visitors to that beautiful resort they will have to be placed under muzzle. We must at least be able to guarantee our friends immunity from squirrel bites.

THE YOUNG IDEA
A library assistant reports a visit from a perplexed parent who wanted some words
on theology with which to confront her daughter, who was described as "a bright
young woman of 11 years, who gravely doubted the authenticity of the Bible." The young folks appear to be furnishing all sorts of problems for their elders. As a group of jazzy iconoclasts they are taking this old world apart to see what makes it tick. If it isn't flattery, it's philosophy.

FINE FEATHERS
Our Boston way a citizen fell in love
with and married the pretty waitress in the restaurant in which he dined each day. The couple were married just one year and now
it is shown in the divorce proceedings that the bride bought two new dresses every week. She had 104 gowns in her initial year as a wife and then the husband signed off and quit. The court was obliged to admit that a dress should last more than three days—even for a girl who had a cafeteria
training.

MATCHING COLORS
We fear the "colorscope" introduced in some Boston dressmaking establishments will not work according to schedule. This is a sort of the color of the hair and complexion of the customer by which the clothing experts may determine the colors she should or should not wear. But let a woman once set her heart on a certain gown and we'll warrant she will sooner change her complexion and the color of her hair than let the experts switch her off on the one
they have picked out for her.

EARNING TO SERVE
An army officer asserts that the extension of the citizens' training-camp idea—until a large proportion of our younger men
receive a little experience in army discipline
and training each year—would make impossible
such rioting as occurred at Herrin and would stop many of the outbreaks for which the Klan is blamed. Life in camp inculcates a respect for law and order. There is also respect for the flag and all it stands for.
The discipline is also of the kind that makes for competency in meeting the emergency.
A little training now and then will
will the backbone of our men.

ACTIVE AND PASSIVE
A test made in Detroit a year ago to determine the relative intelligence of members of the police force brought out the strange fact that the percentage with superior intelligence decreases with years of service and that the average patrolman is brighter than the average police lieutenant.
The explanation given by the Detroit officials
was that those who stuck till they became lieutenants were mostly those who lacked the initiative to take up more lucrative occupations. This, however, cannot be true of business offices—at least not of those that make a success of their enterprises.

PERILS OF MATRIMONY
A number of local divorce court include
the sad tale of a young wife who thought she was wedding a capitalist, but who was awakened to the horrible truth that she had married a trombone player. As everybody knows, there is a virtually impassable gulf between a Napoleon of finance and a performer in brass. It takes a peculiarly vivid imagination to consort a capitalist with a trombone player. In this case, the wife quickly learned the truth, but unfortunately the marriage had taken place. The question
before the court, however, is whether manipulating
a trombone constitutes ground for divorce. On this point authorities differ. It may be necessary to call in the Supreme Court for the final decision.

THREE SCORE AND TEN
Dr. Osler's theory has long ago been discredited and even the biblical span of life is being pushed forward. Still active in their seventies we have Andrew Mellon, Senator Lodge, Albert B. Cummings, John B. Shedd, Thomas A. Edison, Samuel Gompers, F. H. Gillett, Elihu Root and Leslie M. Shaw. In their eighties, still merely middie-aged, we see Oliver W. Holmes, Senator Warren, Joseph McKenna, Andrew J. Fram-
and Lyman J. Gage, with Uncle Joe Cannon
in the last year of that decade. Past ninety and still carrying on are Charles W.
Eliot, Chauncey M. Depew and George Shiras.
And to represent the centenarians
John A. Stewart of the United States Trust Company and ex-Senator Cole of California.

AMERICA AND THE LEAGUE
Secretary Hughes, in his Indianapolis
address, stated clearly and vigorously the attitude of the Coolidge administration in relation to the Geneva policies recently formulated by the League of Nations. The present administration will not "tolerate"
submission of domestic questions relating to the United States "to the determination of a group of powers."

Secretary Hughes did not assume a bel-igerent pose. He did not resort to the practices of the political demagogue. He did not strut about rattling the American sabre. But what he said carries all the greater authority because it was couched in fearless terms that none can misunderstand.
No one who reads the following paragraph
can fail to understand the exact attitude
this country would take if any power or group of powers should attempt to meddle with what we consider purely domestic problems:

We have favored and do favor the submission to arbitral or judicial tribunes
of international questions—that is, the decisions of questions arising under our treaties and under international law
—because these questions are to be solved by principles which are accepted. But when we are outside the domain of our treaties and questions
of international law and are dealing with our own domestic questions we reserve our freedom to determine our own policies.

The concluding words of that paragraph stress a policy to which our government has adhered since the formation of the republic and from which it would depart only to imperil
our liberties. America will permit none outside the country to deal with its domestic questions. The American people will defend with their blood, if necessary,
rights which are consonant with our liberties.

Since the League of Nations has been created there have been those in Europe
who sought to make of that organization a supergovernment empowered to interfere with
the individual rights of independent peoples.
There have been proposals to formulate a policy which will forbid levying of national tariffs and to give to the League
authority to say who shall and who shall not reside in any given country.

The American government has always held that these are purely domestic questions;
that the American people possess the right to protect their labor and their industries
from foreign competition; that the American people possess the right to limit immigration and to decide who shall and who shall not be permitted to become citizens of the United States.

To many it will come as a surprise to know that these rights have been questioned,
that any nation or group of nations
should even consider interfering with the domestic policies of the United States. It is true that no definite action has been taken by the League of Nations looking to interfering with purely American rights and privileges; but the discussions which took place at the last session of the League
showed that by some of the member nations
at least, such action was contemplated.

The Coolidge administration has not hesitated to put our government and people on record. It has promulgated a policy in regard to the decrees of the League similar to that promulgated by President Monroe and known as the Monroe Doctrine, in relation to the decrees of the Holy Alliance.

The sentiment of the country has not changed
in this regard during the last 100 years.
The American people stand firmly by their Constitution and by the rights and privileges
it confers on them as a people and a nation.
They will defend it against any and all assaults, whether from within or from without.

And the American people are not likely to repudiate an administration which courage-
ously takes up the defense of these rights
and privileges, in the face of malicious enemies within and a combination of world powers. The administration does not flinch in its support of our rights and privileges; and
The Times is serene in the confidence that the American people will not flinch in their support of the Coolidge administration.

SHUNNING WORDS AND DOLLARS
Sling mud at the President and the government of the United States, appealing to hatreds that shatter reason, preaching a gospel of suspicion and destruction, decrying
the lot of the poor man while himself enjoying luxuries beyond the dreams of a Roman Emperor, Burton K. Wheeler, La Follette's L.W.W. associate and sympathizer, has visited Los Angeles, poured out the offerings of his poison tongue and departed.

Wheeler offered not one suggestion for a solution of any of the evils he sought to picture, unless, of course, the election of himself and La Follette be accepted as a current and a guarantee of future bliss for all ankind.

SLEEP, GENTLE SLEEP
Sleep is a bad habit and a luxury which
the efficient man of the future will do without.

Biologically, sleep is a survival of the prehistoric existence of man. It will become in time as unnecessary as the appendix is now.

This is the theory at least of Dr. Th. Zell,
a well-known German scientist. He deduces
it from an extensive investigation of the nature of sleep and a close observation of the animal kingdom.

The Hero Doctor makes a few startling assertions. He claims that sleep was the only means that enabled prehistoric man to live with the beasts and to maintain himself
against them.

The human system became used to it
during the 200,000 years of prehistoric life
and has become rid of it in the four or five thousand years of civilized life, in which
sleep has lost its value because man no longer need fear the beasts.

Primarily, sleep is a food-saving device.
That's why babies and young animals sleep
so much; otherwise the mother would be unable to feed them. At least this savant says so.

The period of sleep is the only extended period during the twenty-four hours when man doesn't eat. On the same principle has developed the winter and summer sleep of animals. The animals of the high north sleep during the winter, when their food
sources are buried under snow, and the alligators sleep during the summer when their native waters and with it their food supply
have dried out.

We could not abolish sleep tomorrow.
Sleep is still required. But it is only a question of time until man can function without sleep and will have outlived it. We have Dr. Zell's word for it.

The theory that sleep is necessary to rest
the body, to enable it to eliminate waste products and then replace them is denied by Dr. Zell. Uh-huh! Oh-ho! No need any longer to set the old alarm clock.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

War on the Roof of the World

The followers of Buddha, the Excellent
One, who is lord of all the world, are at one with another. Champaipochha, lama of Tashi, "jewel among great scholars," is in revolt against his superior, the lama of Lasa,
who is also the last incarnation of Buddha himself. The Tashi lama has gone off to China to confer with other Buddhists, and it is feared also with soldiers and standards of the Chinese. The people of Lasa are up in arms against the Tashi lama, who is the person of the Holy One. To a British journalist who inquired into the trouble the living Buddha sent a message: "We go from life to life, from weariness to weariness, we are all bound upon the wheel, there is no escape. Sometimes we hear the voice of Ananda's Lord and sometimes there is silence. At present we hear nothing, because worldly things disturb the Bodhisatt." Not a great deal of consolation in that message
for a reporter.

The March of Empire

The Italian government has decided to annex the Dodecanese Islands, that lie in front of the Smyrna coast in the Aegean Sea. It's the march of empire and not a word of protest or surprise is heard from Italy or Greece or even France. The islands will form the sixtieth province of the Italian kingdom and the Premier of Italy has announced that an intensive system of education will be instituted on the islands so that within a generation the population will be Italian at heart. Mussolini
may be silent on foreign questions at times
but he never abandons his goal. And that goal is an Italian empire or the "Mare Nostrum."

While the Commissars Talk

A sudden halt has been called in the extensive building operations in the Russian capital. Workmen digging foundations for the immense apartment houses the Moscow
soviet has decided to erect have been sent home for the time being. Is there a war inside Russia? Is there, perhaps, a renewed outbreak of famine or economic conditions? Nothing of the sort. The Moscow soviet members have suspended operations until they have threshed out the question
whether they will install common bathing pools in the basements of the apartment
houses or whether they will build a bathroom in each separate apartment. While the councillors debate the workers are on

RIPPLING RHYMES

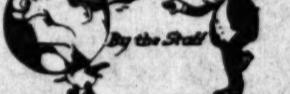

VOTE FOR JAMES

If James J. Beesley is elected when bleak
November comes along we'll be no more distracted, dejected, we'll chant a blithe
and cheery song; great things may be in store for us. "We'll be the best of friends," he'll sing. "We'll be the best of friends," he'll
say. "We'll be the best of friends," he'll say.
I've heard him tell in words that glitter how he will rend old firs apart; the toders' lot, he says, is bitter, they're bossed by Croesus of the mart; and James will squelch that noxious critter, who has no conscience, soul or heart. The tax collector grinds our faces and James will put the taxes down; the profiteer, who now embraces the assets of the great, will be a lot of old bones, he will be shacked by all the sloth of shiftless
gentlemen; the village gossip long have cackled that he'd be dear at twenty cents. Some say his promises are hollow, they have him
classed as a quack, but he's a quack, he seem to swallow the bunk he's handed
them for weeks; yea, there are multitudes
who follow and cheer him roundly when he speaks.

CLUB HEARS BOBBED HAIR DENOUNCED

Speaker Declares it Failed in Vain Attempt to Preserve Youth

"If a woman thought she would look younger if she had 200 hairpins in her hair, she would use them if each one drew blood."

"The Art of Being a Man," and devoted himself entirely to a discussion of the war against crime, participating in that war, drawing the duty of mankind," said Agnes Rose Hardy in her talk before the Soroptimist Club yesterday in the Palm Room at the Biltmore on "The Art of Being a Woman."

"The bobbed hair is a medium of success, and it is far from being beautiful. Barbers themselves admit that, but they know the women are commercially valuable, therefore they maintain the style and will, for a time, maintain the shingle bob. A bobbed hair is not freedom as those who are bobbed up for adoption is a state of consciousness," Mrs. Hardy continued, and went on to emphasize her theme that beauty in woman is an art of duty.

That age is only the obedience to the composite mind of the world and not a reality, since even twelve months now can in all but the bony structure of the body are made anew, and that every seven years, even the bony structure is renewed, that woman is a state of the spirit, she said.

She also declared that the secret of success is to be a woman, and that the secret of beauty is to be a woman.

"And, as for bobbed hair, it actually creates wrinkles, tumors and scalp trouble as well as wrinkles, and are a few to beauty. We make and remake ourselves," said the speaker, who said that bobbed hair was beauty in woman desirable, but an essential to her success in business or profession.

In addition, Mrs. Hardy's preference for long hair as an aid to beauty she made also a plea for longer skirts than fashion dictated this fall, and for the wearing of corsets or at least girdles.

"Bobbed hair is a surprising way of exposing individual weaknesses, she asserted, reverting to her pet anathema—bobbed hair.

TRIO HELD IN ARSON CASE

Couple and Plumber Must Answer in Asserted Conspiracy to Burn House for Insurance

Clarence B. Walden, his wife, Edna Frances Walden, and Martin Colson, a plumber, were held to answer to Superior Court yesterday to charges of arson, according to Assistant County Fire Warden Thompson and Kennedy. The preliminary hearing of the trio was held yesterday at the county fire warden's office for his tools, which were seized shortly after the fire.

The officers said yesterday they obtained statements from the accused which tended to show that Colson plotted the fire, and attempted to raise money to go into business.

Ball was set by Justice Hunter at $2,000 cash each. Mrs. Walden was released on her own recognizance, but Walden, the only man, was held to the County Jail.

Mr. Walden would accept his asserted protestations of love for his wife.

Kennedy and Thompson, who conducted an investigation of the fire, disclosed that the accused had been held to answer to charges of arson, according to Assistant County Fire Warden Thompson and Kennedy, and took Walden into custody when he called at the county fire warden's office for his tools, which were seized shortly after the fire.

Burke speak on the campaign in Imperial, conning for President Coolidge. APPEAL TO PRESIDENT FOR MERCY

Orange County Citizens Ask Leniency in Case of Nelson Convicted of Fraud

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE) SANTA ANA, Oct. 14.—Several score Orange county citizens today affixed their names to a petition to be sent to President Coolidge asking him to pardon Chris Nelson, Wintersburg rancher, who recently was found guilty of using the mail to defraud him when he was indicted in court at Los Angeles. Nelson was to have reached Leavenworth penitentiary today, to serve three-and-a-half years.

As an alternative, the petitioners asked the sentence be commuted to one year, that term having been given George K. Nickerson, Joseph C. Gendron, co-defendants with Nelson, who were in the San Bernardino County Jail.

The asserted incompatability of sentence was mentioned in the petition to the President. The trio were arrested in connection with their operations with the Square Deal and Boulevard oil operations at Signal Hill.

Giant Boulevard is Planned for Heart of Valley

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE) VAN NUYS, Oct. 14.—What is known here and in San Fernando Valley as the Victoria Boulevard plan was announced here last night following a mass meeting at the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

The project, as announced now, is to make Victoria Boulevard 100 feet wide with a parking of fifteen feet on each side. The boulevard is to be built through the valley of the same width as the State highway beyond the Conejo grade.

A permanent organization

formed in leading circles last night, will push the project until it is finished.

Engineer J. W. Cooks who has charge of the new road work in San Fernando Valley was present at the meeting, gave interesting data on the plans of the immense highway and stated his office would back up the project. Engineers in the Lankershim district also were present.

It is found the people of Southern California are well satisfied to remain in the White House a man who is doing a good job for his constituents.

President Coolidge's election is assured by a large margin," Mr. Swing declared.

"I would not be surprised if the President received a majority of 20,000 votes."

Congressman Swing is leaving for the national capital well in advance of the opening of Congress, as he said there is considerable work awaiting him in the interest of the Eleventh District.

CITY BAN ON OIL WELLS UPHELD

Appellate Court Confirms
Orange County Edict

Injunction Refused Against Huntington Beach

Nuisance Declared Sufficient
Cause for Ordinance

The right of a city to ban oil wells anywhere in its incorporated area was upheld yesterday in a decision handed down by Division One of the Second District Court of Appeals.

The decision, written by Justice Houser, affirmed the ruling of the Orange County Superior Court that injunction proceedings brought against the city of Huntington Beach by the City of Fullerton Association.

The association has thirteen acres of land in that city and attempted to drill wells on the acreage. An ordinance prohibiting the drilling of wells in that area was passed by the city on the ground that the wells were in a residential section.

The association asked an injunction on the grounds that the drilling would be a nuisance and that it deprived the company of valuable rights contrary to both the state and Federal constitutions.

Judge Houser ruled that the city had a legal right to ban the ordinance and that the courts were powerless to intervene even though the city might have acted unreasonably in passing the ordinance of the district in which oil wells are prohibited.

Sufficient cause exists for the ordinance, it was pointed out, in that the wells would constitute a fire menace, and the smoke, steam and offensive odors escaping from the wells would be a source of annoyance to those living in the vicinity.

NINETEEN ON LIST ASKING NEW TRIALS

Woman Convicted in Death
of Physician and Flapper
Bandit Among Them

The fate of nineteen persons, three convicted of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment, was placed in the hands of the Second District Court of Appeal, Division Two, yesterday. Within ninety days the court will hand down decisions, either affirming judgments returned in Superior Court or granting new trials.

Mrs. Margaret B. Willis, convicted slayer of her physician, Dr. Margaret B. Willis, Barnes-Brown, who was found guilty of shooting his sister-in-law with a bullet said to have been meant for his wife, and B. T. Vernon, a negro who was found guilty of killing another colored man, were the three who took their appeals from life sentence.

Pearl Redmond, rapper bandit, Mrs. Anna, wealthy citizen, accused of an attack on Eloise Clement; William C. Borcher, Long Beach promoter, and Joseph J. Land, charged with attempting to set off an infernal machine under his wife's Venice home, were among the others who appealed.

One case was decided by the court from the bench yesterday. Because attorneys failed to make an appearance for Harry P. Smith the court affirmed the judgment of guilty plea of an automobile in Imperial county.

At the conclusion of its session, the court admitted the following lawyers who had not been admitted in other States:

George A. Loster, Montana; Louis E. White, Missouri; F. A. Phillips, Idaho; Neal E. Dow, Washington, and W. M. Potts, Pennsylvania.
